

Organisation name: iProbono India

Position: Junior Program Officer

Term: Full-time

Location: Delhi

Remuneration: Competitive

About iProbono India

iProbono India's mission is to enable people to access their rights in pursuit of a just society. We believe in holistic counsel, representing clients and providing wraparound legal support, capacity building, storytelling, research, and policy advocacy to support social change.

The organisation brings together the legal expertise of its carefully curated community of panel and network lawyers, ground-level insights of its grassroots partners, and the ethos of social action litigation to advance justice and equality in India. We focus our efforts on child rights, housing justice, disability justice and criminal justice.

The Role

We are looking for a Junior Program Officer to join our team in Delhi. This team member will be responsible for supporting our child protection litigation, and working on advocacy and capacity building projects. This position would suit dynamic, early career individuals who not only possess legal skills but a passion for social justice and child rights. We are looking for individuals who want to build their career with us and be part of iProbono for the long term.

Successful candidates will possess a sound knowledge of the Indian legal system and must have good communication skills. They should be highly organised, results-driven team players. They need to be able to work independently where required while providing essential support to the Programs Team.

Responsibilities

- Attend court hearings, coordinate with panel lawyers, and track follow up actions.
- Conduct legal research and assist with drafting briefs, notes, and case summaries.
- Maintain accurate case documentation, update the internal database, and track hearing dates and litigation timelines.
- Support development of strategic litigation and advocacy initiatives based on ground level needs.
- Build and maintain partnerships with NGOs and child rights organisations.
- Organise and execute workshops and trainings for partner organisations and beneficiaries.

Skills and Experience

- A bachelor's degree in law.
- 1-3 years court experience while working at an NGO, civil society organisation and/or litigation chamber.
- Working knowledge of Indian child protection laws, including the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015 and the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act, 2012.
- Strong research, drafting, and organisational skills.
- Excellent written and oral communication skills in English and Hindi.
